HERE'S the POINT

By SPENCE HELD

Adm. William H. Standley, USN, ret., says that Congress should outlaw the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner" on the radio.

"How can you stand and salute, as every American should, when you hear it played under many conditions on the radio?" he said.

That's nonsense, of course, and almost everybody knows it.

Personally, I like to hear "The Star Spangled Banner" on the radio and I'm not about to leap to my feet and salute at midnight when a local station signs off the air with it.

* * *

Two or three years ago Adm. Standley squawked about a red star atop the Civic Center. It was part of the Christmas decorations and was more pink than red.

What if it was red? Didn't the Star of Bethlehem precede the Red Star of Russia by 2000 years?

Anyhow, the next Christmas there was no star over the Civic Center. Adm. Standley, a one-man pressure group, had intimidated us into a state of mind where it was subversive.

Would anybody be converted to Communism by a red star on the Civic Center?

Haw!

* * *

The other day a boy named Michael Rudd, of 1860 Sunset Cliffs Blvd., came into the Peninsula News office to ask about a paper route. He had a football with him.

Well, we adjourned to the sidewalk outside and tossed the ball awhile. The new model "pigskin" is more streamlined than the old version, I discovered, and easier to throw.

* * *

And that brings us to the Football Carnival at Balboa Stadium last Friday night.

I enjoyed it thoroughly, even if Point Loma High did take a beating from Hoover. The girls looked good, anyhow—Lomanettes pomponers, etc. So did the band.

On the basis of the Carnival, Point Loma would shape up about fourth in the six-team City League. Hoover had the power and San Diego High the speed. La Jolla was impressive, too.

But the Carnival is mainly a spectacle and the 18-minute "game" between Hoover and Point Loma wasn't necessarily the tipoff on regular season play.

* * *

I wondered, for instance, if Ray Blasingame's pass-catching talents would be utilized in subsequent games. (This rangy 190-pounder is a former end being tried at fullback.) Well, I got the answer Saturday night when Point Loma knocked off Grossmont, 19 to 6.

Blasingame took a pass from Bill Harvey for a touchdown. Harvey threw another to Marcie Lampkin for a TD and punched over himself for a third score.

In the Carnival "game" Friday, Hoover's 210-pound fullback, John Adams went through the Loman line like a fast tank bowling over a row of outhouses. However, it may be a different story when the locals play Hoover in a regular game Oct. 8.

Almost any plunging fullback can be throttled by a hard-charging, fired-up line, and it's possible that our boys will cut Adams down to size.

* * *

Spirit plays a bigger part in football than in other games. A guy who is fat-headed and complacent will just go through the motions. But if he's an underdog, and fired-up, he may go berserk, blocking and tackling with irresistible fury.

That's one reason there are so many "upsets" in football. A supposedly inferior team will rise up and smack down its opponent with gusto, to the confusion of the "experts."

Then, too, the forward pass is a great equalizer. A team with a good passer and a pair of sticky-fingered ends can make monkeys out of a bunch of 200-pound gorillas with chest wigs who eat raw meat for breakfast and sleep through English, History and Chemistry.

Think nothing of it, fellas. Some of my best friends are gorillas.

Quarterback Bill Harvey tossed touchdown passes to Marcie Lampkin and Ray Blasingame and went over himself for another score.

State Sen. Fred Kraft Cites Accomplishments

State Senator Fred Kraft, a candidate for reelection, has issued a summary of his platform and accomplishments.

Kraft, a resident of this county since 1919, is a druggist in Ocean Beach and has been in business 35 years. He was elected to the Assembly in 1942, and after serving two terms there was elected to the State Senate in 1946, re-elected four years later.

"One of my main purposes in seeking re-election is to continue my work of easing the burden of local taxpayers," he said. "For instance, when I first went to the Senate we had many impoverished school districts in this county which couldn't meet the problem of increased enrollment because their residents simply could not pay added direct taxes. The answer to this situation was the school construction program which provided a fair solution. If re-elected I will continue to fight for better schools without putting additional taxes on our local home owners.

"I worked for a change in the highway appropriations formula which has brought many millions more to San Diego county. We see the highway development of the past eight years but there is more work to be done. Highway 80 must be brought up to standard and I pledge myself to that end.

"As chairman of the Health and Safety Committee I've taken the lead in placing tight control on dangerous drugs and in increasing penalties for violations of our narcotic laws. Now we find teen-agers using new drugs to give themselves 'jags,' and these must be restricted. We legislators must be on the alert to this danger and provide the greatest possible protection for our youth.

"The development of additional water resources for our area is a continuing problem. In my opinion the Trinity and Feather Rivers projects should receive the attention and encouragement of all legislators, with the ultimate view of bringing this water to Southern California where it is so badly needed."

McDAVID HITS HARD AT HIS OPPONENT

Robert E. McDavid, speaking to the La Jolla Women's Club yesterday charged William G. Bonelli with dereliction of duty in administering the Fourth District Board of Equalization.

McDavid, the Republican nominee who will oppose Bonelli in the November election for membership on the Board, asserted, "The Alcoholic Beverage Control Division is only one of seven divisions of the Board of Equalization, but publicity on the malodorous administration of that division has caused many of our citizens to believe that the Board is only concerned with liquor problems".

"The Board of Equalization is a very important agency of our State government," McDavid said. "It administers and collects more than 750 million dollars annually in taxes and licenses, and if I am elected a Member of the Board, the taxation functions will receive the major portion of my attention."

McDavid also said, "The responsibility of the shameful liquor license scandals in the Fourth District Board of Equalization rests squarely upon the shoulders of William G. Bonelli, who is the elected Board member, and must account to the people for his stewardship."

O. B. KIWANIS CLUB

Ocean Beach Kiwanis Club was host Tuesday evening to children of club members, and the program was especially planned for them.

Water Authority Dedicates 2nd Barrel Saturday

Another important chapter in the history of water development in San Diego County will be written Saturday with the dedication of the second Aqueduct barrel. The site is at the south portal of Oat Hill tunnel, on the McMahan Ranch, about eight miles north of Escondido.

Participating in the ceremony, starting at noon, will be officers and directors of the San Diego County Water Authority, Metropolitan Water District, Navy, Bureau of Reclamation, Mayors of cities in the area served by the Aqueduct, County officials, and the San Diego Chamber of Commerce.

The second barrel, on which construction started late in 1952, has been completed several weeks ahead of schedule. It will have been "usably" completed this week, a development that will be highlighted when for the first time Colorado River water is turned into both barrels as the finale of Saturday's ceremony. This will be accomplished by the removal of a bulkhead at the Oat Hill tunnel site.

Fred A. Heilbron, Water Authority chairman, will be master of ceremonies.

The second Aqueduct barrel is 61 miles long. Construction contracts were completed 2½ months ahead of schedule. Maximum capacity of the double-barreled aqueduct is 140 million gallons daily.

Printing and publishing, according to the NAC, ranks sixth among the leading manufacturing industries in California.

100 KIDS ENJOY FISHING DERBY

Approximately 100 boys and girls angled for prizes in the National Kids Day Fishing Derby staged by Ocean Beach Kiwanis Club Saturday at Atlantic Cove, Mission Bay. They caught about 65 fish, according to Harry Masters, chairman.

Tommy Reed, 14, landed the biggest fish in the boys' division, while Anita Rayburn, 12, topped the girl contestants. Youngest angler in the derby was a five-year-old girl.

The fish hauled in were mostly opal-eye, bass, perch and bullheads, Masters reported. The largest weighed about 8 ounces and the smallest one-half ounce.

Ocean Beach merchants were generous in donating prizes, and every entrant received an award of some kind. Masters expressed his thanks to them.

The Kiwanis committee in charge of prizes included Eddie Schoen, Johnny Dowell, Ed Peterson and Ray Perine.

Assisting with the Derby Saturday were George Claspill, club past president; Terry Sweeny, Dr. Guy Everist and Cliff Peet.

Local Demo Club Starts Caravan To L. A. Rally

When the national political spotlight turns to Adlai Stevenson, making a major Democratic campaign speech at Hollywood Bowl the night of Saturday, Oct. 9, a large delegation of San Diegans will be there as a coordinated group going by bus and car caravan.

The Point Loma Democratic Club has initiated formation of the caravan. With the cooperation of other Democratic organizations throughout the county, the local club "has met with unprecedented enthusiasm and response," it was said. The caravan will include Democratic candidates from this area.

A "Fair Deal Package" has been prepared—for $6 each person will receive round-trip transportation in an air-conditioned bus, a seat in the San Diego reserved section at the Stevenson Rally, and a box supper.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Hope Firestone, AC-3-3278, or Mrs. Helen Lustig, AC-3-5108.

Those who desire to go in their own cars may make reservations for rally tickets.

Marlin Catches And Yellowtail Hauls Continue

With catches of marlin off San Diego and yellowtail hauls off the Coronado Islands reaching toward record totals, there were very strong indications that the surface fishing season might be prolonged for some time—unless a sudden spell of bad weather should pop up to end it.

Through last Saturday, anglers had accounted for a total of 286 marlin, and the count was jumping at the rate of 10 to 20 fish a day. Through the same date, the yellowtail total for the season had reached 30,817 and it appeared that the banner 1952 total of 34,432 might be topped before the rods are put away.

Among the marlin fishermen who scored last weekend was Al Ogle, Point Loma rod and reeler who has been making a habit of it. Ogle's last catch was a 148 pounder taken on medium tackle.

Yellowtail catches during the week ranged as high as 802, but fog and southeast winds cut the take considerably last weekend, although catches were expected to bounce right back as soon as conditions were more favorable.

Chamber Still Fighting For Saratoga Ave. Jetty

Harry La Dou, president of Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce, was to meet with Councilman Clair Burgener this week to discuss the proposed groin or jetty extending from the foot of Saratoga Ave.

Results of this conference will be reported to directors of the local Chamber at a meeting Tuesday noon in Kona Kai Club.

The Ocean Beach Chamber recently sent a resolution to the City Council urging construction of the groin or jetty to stabilize the local beach. Spoil from the Mission Bay Channel dredging would be deposited on both sides of the groin.

The resolution pointed out that on a previous occasion, spoil was deposited on the beach but "did not remain stable and washed away."

Army engineers and State authorities have recommended a stone groin at the foot of Saratoga, it was stated.

The City Council has referred the Chamber's resolution "to conference," according to word from the City Clerk's office.

La Dou said he expected to discuss with Councilman Burgener other projects advocated by the Chamber, including acquisition by the City of privately-owned property adjacent to the Ocean Beach waterfront, and completion of the Wabaska Freeway.

PT. LOMA ROTC RANKED HIGH

Point Loma High School was ranked second only to Long Beach Polytechnic High among some 36 high school ROTC units inspected in the southern California Army subdistrict last spring.

That was the word received by Ralph Dailard, superintendent of schools, from Sixth Army Headquarters. All six San Diego city high schools which maintain ROTC units were awarded "Honor Roll" recognition on the basis of their showing in the annual Federal inspection.

By contrast, it was reported that only half of the ROTC units in schools in the Los Angeles Long Beach-Pasadena metropolitan area received "Honor Roll" recognition.

Peninsula Meeting Set By Board of Education

Dana Junior High School auditorium will be the scene of a regular business meeting of the San Diego Board of Education next Tuesday, Oct. 5, at 7:30 p.m., Mrs. Mildred L. Hale, president, announced.

This is the first of a series of evening meetings to be held throughout the city in an effort to bring school problems closer to the public.

Dana Principal Clarence Swenson and others preparing for Tuesday's meeting, including PTA leaders, hope for a large turnout of Peninsula residents "to set a good example for the rest of the city."

The Board's meeting table will be set up on the stage of the auditorium, and microphones will be provided for the board members and administrative officers so the public will be able to hear the discussions and actions.

"We are anxious," said Mrs. Hale, "to bring the schools and the people closer together, and we believe this will be one good way of doing it. Members of the board realize that it is difficult for most citizens to attend our regular afternoon meetings at the Education Center.

"Preliminary inquiries through PTA groups in neighborhood schools have convinced us that citizens will be enthusiastic in attending evening meetings in their own communities."

Mrs. Hale added that attendance at the community meetings will give paretns and others a better understanding of the roles and responsibilities of both the Board of Education and the professional administrative staff in the operation of the schools.

IN HONOR OF CABRILLO—Beautiful pink and magenta begonias, and luscious looking bunches of real tokay, concord and muscat grapes adorned the tables and revealed "Grape Festival" to be the secret theme of the Cabrillo Day Banquet Sept. 18, at El Cortez Hotel.

Sponsored by the Portuguese-American Social and Civic Club, the festivities heralded the celebration of Cabrillo's landing on Point Loma on the 28th day of September 412 years ago. Favors for the guests were tiny replicas of Cabrillo's flagship, "San Salvador," made from seashells. Each sail was a separate shell strung with fine wire.

A comely mannequin, dressed in an authentic native costume of Portugal, greeted the guests as they entered the Don Room. In front of the model was an old wine press and loads of the tempting fruit. When asked why the young girl wore one shoe and carried the other, we were told an amusing bit of Portuguese history by the decorations chairman, Mrs. Lawrence Oliver.

"In the old country, years ago," she said, "they passed a law saying anybody had to wear shoes. The street vendors with an eye out for local police, would wear one shoe and carry the other. That way a pair lasted twice as long."

SHE WOWED 'EM—Those who left Kona Kai on a recent evening missed a $5000 show a "once in a lifetime" package. Roberta Linn, TV star who was in town for the Army Reserve Day show, ended up at Kona Kai with her mother, Mrs. Madge Hammond; her guitar accompanist, Jack Marshall; her press agent and forty-seven Army reservists. Vic Vincent, KK orchestra leader, persuaded Roberta to sing, And sing she did. She wowed 'em.

"My mother always told me to quit while I was ahead," she kept saying in her friendly, natural way, 'but, I tell you, I'll do another lil' melody." Then she'd have a quick conference with the orchestra and deliver. Kona Kai loved her!

Roberta's brunette beauty was striking in a pumpkin colored jersey blouse and a charcoal wool skirt. She wore pumpkin shoes and belt to match. Mrs. Hammond, her handsome and young looking mother, has the same coloring. She wore a full cut pumpkin shrug jacket over a black frock.

Until just recently Mrs. Hammond made all of Roberta's formals for her TV appearance. "One year," she told us, "I made 47 dresses. I think that's a record. But since most of the time the camera focuses from the waist up, I concentrate on a versatile bodice. I add something here and take something off there to give a different effect."

Roberta's latest recording, "I'm Going Out On The Front Porch And Cry", was released Monday.

FORMER RESIDENT—It was good to see again Aubrey Thompson, former Point Loman of 678 Silvergate. Capt. Thompson of the Army Reserve was dashing about Kona Kai Club, arranging transportation for the star who'd come down from Hollywood to do the Army Reserve Shows at Balboa Bowl. Hes' just put on a plane Harry Babbitt, Mamie Van Doren and others, and was making arrangements for Roberta and her group.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and their two young daughters live in Oceanside where they have a 7-acre ranch, but are not "doing anything with it right now", said Mr. T. "We have an eight-stall where we keep two horses for a friend, and we have a dog and a cat. The cat came with the mortgage," he added.

HITHER THITHER, YON—Seen dancing at Kona Kai recently were Werner Petersen and his super-attractive wife. Mrs. Petersen was showing off a new party frock from Mexico, a scooped-neck cotton ballerina, printed with colorful wild horses and generously sprinkled with white irridescent sequins.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Bovee were there entertaining Mr. Bovee's boss of 25 years ago, who is visiting here from New Jersey.

Bill Richards, Peninsula News photographer, was taking a final fling before entering Stanford University.

HEARD AND LIKED—When Don Robinson, superintendent of Cabrillo Monument was called on to make a few remarks at the Cabrillo Day banquet he said, "I notice there's a large number of politicians here. When that happens I always wonder what they want. Tonight we've wined 'em and dined 'em, so I say to them: How about enlarging the Cabrillo National Monument?"

(PS—Your Congressman, Bob Wilson, told your reporter he is still working on the Army to release land for enlarging the Cabrillo Monument site. Later I saw him arm in arm with Lt. Gen. Willard G. Wyman, commanding general of the Sixth Army of which San Diego is a part. Lets hope Rep. Wilson brought up the subject then and there.)

LOMA PORTAL PUPILS

With 823 pupils, Loma Portal Elementary School has its largest enrollment, reports Miss Sydnie Higgins, principal. The faculty of 22 teachers is also the largest in the history of the school.

Ducks Unlimited To Hold Dinner Oct. 4

Over 600 duck hunters and wildlife enthusiasts in the San Diego area are expected to lend vigorous support to the annual fund-raising dinner to be held by Ducks Unlimited Oct. 4 at the Kona Kai Club at 7 p.m., according to Bruce Hazard, president. A cocktail hour at 6 p.m. will precede the dinner.

Hazard pointed out that the dinner is accorded enthusiastic support because duck hunters appreciate the fact that all proceeds from the dinner go to the propagation of waterfowl.

The San Diego chapter was organized over 10 years ago. The chapter's growth has been so extensive that a women's auxiliary was formed last year to aid the conservation program and to enjoy membership activities.

All duck hunters and those interested in wildlife are invited to attend the dinner. Reservations may be made by calling Mr. Hazard or Mrs. Wade Ambrose. The tickets include membership in the chapter, and five chances on the grand prize and the many other prizes to be awarded during the evening. The prize, the new Browdning Superposed Magnum 12 Duck and Goose Gun, has been donated for the occasion by Stanley ndrews. A

40th Anniversary Observed Locally

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Oliver of 4722 Pescadero avenue, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary on September 18 at their home.

A buffet luncheon was served. Those attending included: Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Fitch; Mr. and Mrs. Leland McQuoid, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hume, Mrs. Elizabeth Kinnaid, Mrs. Fern Baker, Mrs. A. J. Parcells.

The mining capital of the world is San Francisco from which, according to the National Automobile Club, world-wide enterprises are directed.
